Academy Again Considering Sale Of The Abbot Campus

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

The Abbot Academy campus, a choice piece of real estate just off the heart of downtown Andover and in the center of the educational community, is again up for sale.

George Neilson, business manager of Phillips Academy, said this week that the 24-acre campus is once again being offered for sale and discussions are underway with several developers with proposals to make use of the valuable property. There are eight major buildings and four auxiliary buildings on the property.

The campus, bounded by School, Abbot and Phillips streets, was desirable a few years ago to a midwestern firm which proposed conversion of the property to a life-care facility. A special Andover town meeting, however, rejected the proposal, refusing to rezone the area, acceding to the concerns of neighbors of Abbot.

Neilson said this week that the Phillips Trustees meeting a few weeks ago decided that the school should once again pursue the disposal of the property, provided it could be sold and developed with the interests of the school and the town in mind.

Since the rejection of the life-care facility by the town at town meeting a few years ago, the academy has been involved with an ambitious fund raising campaign to insure its continued excellence in education and also had the induction of a new headmaster. There has also been a development drive for the Addison Gallery, all of which has occupied the attention of the trustees.

With these important items now successfully concluded and with the new headmaster having had a sufficient period of indoctrination, the trustees felt it was time to look once again at disposal of the Abbot property.

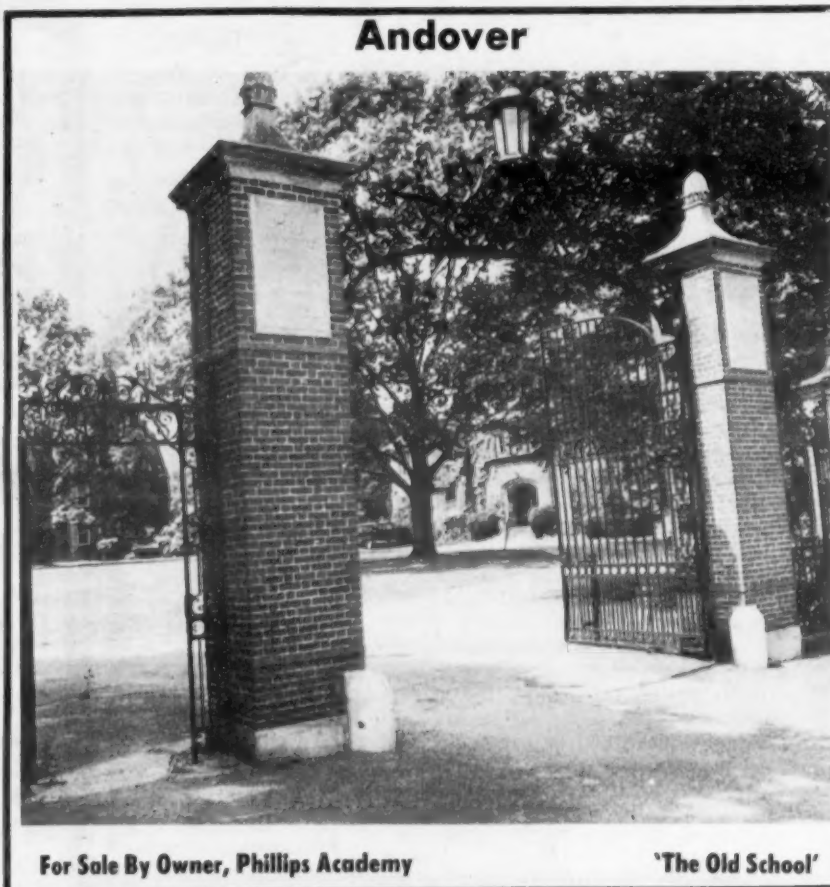

Neilson said that he has begun talks with several people and will "have a busy summer" with attention focused on the School street campus in order to be able to report findings and possibly even recommendations to the trustees at their meeting in October.

The business manager said that meetings with prospective developers to date have resulted in listening to proposals for everything from the original life care facility to apartments, to construction of single family dwellings throughout the property including demolition of existing buildings.

Neilson noted that the decision of the academy trustees was based primarily on the fact that the Abbot campus and building

The Town's Spigot Is Sating Record Thirst

Andover's water department has been pumping some record gallonage during the past few weeks, in part due to assisting the towns of Tewksbury and North Reading which have been facing severe supply problems.

Director of Public Works Robert E. McQuade reported this week that over the last two weeks of the hot, humid weather, the water department has pumped in excess of 59,000,000 gallons of water. On a few of those days, the daily draught at the water treatment plant hit nine and one-half million gallons.

Just how much water has been drawn by Tewksbury since the town began assisting that community in late spring is not known, since the meters are read only periodically.

Tewksbury continues to wrestle with a supply problem, having rejected a water treatment plant proposal at a town meeting and officials there are now considering alternatives in order to respond to the continuing lack of supply.

North Reading has not drawn as much from the Andover supply, since the commudent at the University of Lowell placed fifth along with JoAnne Bearce of Chelmsford in the Engineering Plastics Student Design competition co-sponsored by General Electric Plastics and Plastics Design Forum magazine.

The two students shared the award for their original small-speaker cabinet design. After studying the acoustics of traditional speaker cabinets, the women decided that a truncated pyramid construction of Noryl resin would improve the acoustics and appearance of small bookcase-size speakers.

Miss Haskell wants to further her education in plastics engineering.

In addition to the cash award, the sponsors present a matching award to the university. It was accepted by Dr. Nick R. Schott, chairman of the plastics department at the University of Lowell.

The annual competition was created to recognize outstanding design and engineering students for original designs which make use of engineering thermoplastics. The awards were presented by GE Vice President and General Manager of Plastics Operations Glen Hiner at an award luncheon at the Country Club of Pittsfield.

Town House Topics

Elm Square Gets Some Landscaping

The Elm Square project got a little sprucing up this week with the placement of trees and shrubs in the area where the police box once stood at Elm, High and North Main streets.

The landscaping provided a neater appearance for the square and also probably gave a head start toward a project which will further beautify the town's center if plans materialize.

The committee which originated the concept of the Street of Memorial Flags for patriotic holidays is now hopeful of developing that same section of Elm Square into a memorial park. Ideas being considered include additional landscaping along with a memorial plaque honoring the sacrifice of all Andover residents who served their country in time of need.

John Lewis who is heading the committee planning the memorial indicates that additional information on the proposal should be forthcoming at the conclusion of the summer vacation season.

Meeting Minutes Available

The six task force groups which have been working on the town's comprehensive plan for the past year, have maintained records of all their sessions and the minutes are available at Memorial Hall Library.

The public is welcome to review the proceedings at any time either at the library or in a similar record kept in the development and planning offices in the theater building on Essex Street.

DPW Workers Planning Fun Time

The Andover Public Works department employees will hold their second annual Fun Time, Saturday, Aug. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover K. of C. Hall on Osgood Street.

the Ronald McDonald House, the home for parents of youngsters under treatment at Boston's Children's Hospital.

The event will include dancing, snacks and entertainment provided by comedian Joe Haller and the Once Again Band.

Selectmen Face Light Agenda

Selectmen will face a light agenda when they convene Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the town house.

Among the items is a hearing on application for funds from the Mass.

Industrial Finance Authority, for industrial or commercial development, including a request from the new owners of the Cardinal Cushing gymnasium on Haverhill Street.

Trip To Fenway Is Planned

The Department of Community Services will be participating in the second annual Youth Day at Fenway Park on Monday, Aug. 1, when the Red Sox meet the Milwaukee Brewers in an afternoon game.

The DCS has been allotted 90 bleacher seats for the contest and buses will leave Andover High School at noon and return 45 minutes after the conclusion of the game. Tickets for youths in grades three through ten are obtainable at the DCS office. Adult chaperones are also needed for the trip.

Show In Rehearsal

Rehearsals are underway for Andover Community Theatre's summer production, "West Side Story," to be held Aug. 5, 6, 12 and 13 at the Doherty Junior High School, Bartlett

Bonney To Replace Miner As Hospital Trustee Head

Weston L. Bonney

Weston L. Bonney, prominent Lawrence banking executive and a trustee of Lawrence General Hospital (LGH), has been designated chairman-elect of the board of trustees of the hospital by the executive committee of the board. The trustees' nominating committee submitted their recommendation that he be nominated for the post of chairman at the November annual meeting.

Joshua L. Miner, of Andover, chairman of the board since 1977, has been a trustee since 1976. Under the continuous tenure provision for hospital trustees, he will leave the board in 1984. Miner requested that he not be renominated for chairman, feeling that the important continuity of this key leadership position would best be served by having a new chairman in place before he goes off the board.

Bonney is chairman of the hospital's financial advisory committee and is a member of the Lawrence General-Bon Secours hospitals joint institutional projects committee. He is president and chief executive officer of Bank of New England-Bay State which has offices in Andover. He also serves as senior vice president and director of Bank of New England Corporation and is on the boards of several community organizations.

"I approach this new position with a great deal of humility. It is such an important part of life to provide quality health care at the lowest possible cost. The Greater Lawrence area is fortunate to have excellent quality health care institutions here," Bonney said. "I am constantly impressed with the traditions of caring and professionalism at Lawrence General and will do whatever I can to carry on those traditions."

While living in Gloucester he served as a trustee on the finance committee and as chairman of the planning committee for Addison Gilbert Hospital.

He stressed the importance of hospitals responding to community needs and sees a major part of his role as chairman of the LGH board as interpreting and interfacing with the community.

Joshua L. Miner

Bonney serves as a director of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, as an executive committee member of Lawrence Strategy and on the board of managers and finance committee for the Lawrence YMCA. "I have always felt I owed something to the community. My work in these organizations is my response to the pride I feel in this area," he said.

A graduate of Bates College, Lewiston, ME, he has served as one of its trustees since 1969 and is on its finance, budget and college funding committees.

Bonney is a member of the stockholders' advisory committee of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and a member of the research and planning committee of the Massachusetts Bankers Association.

"I am extremely pleased that Mr. Bonney has accepted the nomination," said Miner, who serves on the nominating committee. "His experience in business and on community boards and his emphasis on the need for planning are ideal in meeting the goals of Lawrence General."

Miner, Phillips Academy admissions director, writer, educator and community service volunteer, is a founder of Outward Bound in the United States.

The U.S. Army adopted olive-drab for winter service uniforms in 1902.

New York City's massive Pennsylvania Railroad Station was originally modeled after the ancient Roman baths of Caracalla.

College Study Course At Y

"It costs college students at least $33 every time they walk into a classroom! If a student doesn't use the absolute latest study techniques while in each class, he/she might just as well throw $33.33 away." These words came from Prof. R.F. Schwarz of Purdue University who developed a "How to Study in College" course to help new college freshmen cope with the problems of adjusting to the rigors of the college classroom.

Where does he get the $33.33 figure? Follow his reasoning. It costs an average of $5,000 a year to go to college, $20,000 to graduate. Many colleges cost more; some less. If a student does not go to college he can expect to earn something during those four years. Let's say $10,000 per year, or $40,000, that is income the student is giving up just to go to college. We're now up to $60,000 as the average cost of a college education. Most students average 30 semester hour credits per year, or 120 credits to graduate. Each credit requires approximately one hour in class per week for a 15-week semester. That means that each credit earned costs $500. Divide this figure by the 15 times the class meets to earn a credit and the value of each hour in class is $33.33.

This is the example that Prof. Schwarz and his colleagues use to illustrate the importance of learning good study techniques when they conduct the "How to Study in College" course. The course will be offered at the Merrimack College Library Auditorium Monday through Thursday, July 25-28, sponsored by the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A.

The nationally acclaimed short course covers such topics as: How to listen, how to take effective lecture notes, how to improve memory, preparing for and taking exams, time management and many other essentials of good, quick college adjustment.

Registrations are being accepted at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., 165 Haverhill St., Andover, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For further information, contact Cathy Dawson at the Y.M.C.A.

Local Man Accepts New Position

Paul D. Greene

Paul D. Greene of Andover, formerly of North Reading, has been named director of Children's Theatre, North Shore Music Theatre, Beverly.

He will be responsible for the implementation of a dramatic arts program for children preschool age and older. Greene is also an instructor of dance and creative movement at the Minuteman Vocational-Technical School in Lexington and drama director at Winchester High School.

Locally, he has been the resident director of the North Reading Theatre Workshop, Inc. since its inception more than five years ago and has staged such musicals as "Carousel," "Kiss Me Kate," "Music Man," "Annie Get Your Gun," "Oklahoma!" and most recently, "Oliver!" He is director-producer for the N.R.T.W.'s summer production of "Man of La Mancha," on August 5 and 6 in the Daniel Shay Auditorium of the North Reading High School at 8 p.m.

Theater Presentation In No. Reading

The North Reading Theatre Workshop, Inc. will present "Man of La Mancha" Aug. 5 and 6 at North Reading High School at 8 p.m. This production is the culmination of an effort to bring musical theatre to the community on a year-round basis and to raise funds to enable the N.R.T.W. to offer an elaborate, full-scale production of "Hello Dolly!" this fall.

Although the membership of The North Reading Theatre Workshop, Inc., has a strong North Reading nucleus, people are also drawn from the surrounding communities of Andover, Lawrence, Reading, Wakefield, Lynnfield and Woburn. The group, now six years old, presents two major musicals a year and has added this summer's production as a third show on its schedule.

Many of the productions have won critical acclaim with special notice often given to the finer details of costuming, lighting and set design. Paul D. Greene, resident director, has been with the group since its inception and is the major force behind its success.

For tickets or information on how to become involved, contact the Greens at 24 Haverhill St., North Reading.

Organ Hall Series Continues

Organist John Dunn will be heard at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall Wednesday, July 27, at 8:30 p.m.

Dunn, a graduate of Harvard College and Boston University where he is enrolled as a doctoral student, holds the Fellowship certificate of the American Guild of Organists. His teachers have been Theodore Marier, Max Miller and George Faxon. He is organist of St. Paul Church, Cambridge, and principal and assistant music director of the Boston Archdiocesan Choir School at St. Paul's Church. He has given many recitals in the Northeast.

He has selected for his program: Piece Heroique, Cesar Franck; Fantasy and Fugue in C Minor, BMV 537, Johann Sebastian Bach; Noel X (Grand jeu et Duo), Louis-Claude d'Aquin; Sonata No. 1 in F Minor, Op. 65-Allegro Moderato e Serioso, Adagio, Andante recit, Allegro Assai Vivace, F. Mendelssohn; Hommage a Frescobaldi, Jean Langlais; Symphonic-Passion, Op. 23, M. Dupre; Scherzo, Op. 2, Maurice Durufle; Prelude and Fugue on the Theme B-A-C-H, Franz Liszt.

In 1909 Searles commissioned the noted architect, Henry Vaughan, to design a hall for the Great Organ. Searles was an excellent musician and at one time gave piano lessons. His love for music, particularly organ music, was a life-long interest. Many churches in the Greater Lawrence area were the grateful recipients of his generosity in giving them church organs. He had an organ in his residence, Pine Lodge, and another at his beautiful castle in Great Barrington.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Route 28), Methuen.

Benji Featured

The Department of Community Services presents "Benji" as the Monday, July 25, feature film at Central Park.

Adorable, amazing and amusing canine star Benji portrays a homeless but loved mutt who attempts to rescue two young human friends when they are kidn-ped. Benji's acting, expressions and general huggability make this an endearing and enjoyable film. Much of the footage, shown from a dog's eye view, is both innovative and interesting.

The evening show will include a Deputy Daug cartoon. The film runs approximately 85 minutes.

In the event of rain, the film will be shown on Tuesday.

Parents Without Partners (PWP), Merrimack Valley Chapter 136, will hold a newcomers meeting August 10 at 8 p.m. at the North Andover VFW, Chickering Road (Rte. 125) at Park Street. Newcomers are welcome.

Friendly Visitors Seek Volunteers

Summertime is the most enjoyable season of the year for many people. Summer means relaxation, fun, travel, swimming at the beach and family reunions. For the elderly, summertime means heat exhaustion, loneliness and empty hours of boredom.

The Friendly Visitor Program of Andover was established because many healthy and strong citizens who have harmonious family relationships, adequate income to travel and to swim at the beach, realized that they had a responsibility to the elderly and to the handicapped in the town. The Friendly Visitor Program was organized so that volunteers from the first group could be matched with members of the second group and both groups could then become friends to help each other make Andover a better place to live, season after season.

Gwen Smith, coordinator of the Friendly Visitor Program, is acquainted with 11 elderly citizens who are alone through the heat of each summer day as it stretches endlessly on, hour after hour. If anyone can find one hour a week to share a heartfelt conversation or a meaningful smile, you will be guaranteed an even happier summer.

Smith's office in the Andover Senior Center, 11 Essex St., is open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for interviews. The telephone number is 470-0870. Call and make an appointment because she is often away from the office, visiting people.

Appointed Mills Mall Manager

Mark Isenberg of Beverly has been appointed project manager of the Andover Mills Mall and the Andover Research Center on Stevens Street to North Main Street in Andover.

The announcement was made by Bert Paley, president of Historic Mill Properties, Inc., leasing and managing agent for the Andover Mills Mall and Research Center.

Isenberg possesses a strong background in real estate and is now in charge of development for both ventures.

Located close to the intersection of Routes 93 and 495, The Andover Mills Mall and Research Center are within the heart of the "HiTech" marketplace. With Digital, Wang, Raytheon, GCA and Gillette as its neighbors, the Andover property offers more than 225,000 sq. ft. of space on 27 acres.

Historic mills are becoming recognized as an excellent source of retail and commercial space because of desirable turn-of-the-century architecture, high ceilings, large windows with abundant natural light, within walking distance of downtown services (shops, restaurants) and rents well below market rates.

Corporate headquarters of Historic Mill Properties are located within the famous Walter Baker Chocolate Building, Dorchester Lower Mills. Historic Mill Properties develops and manages large sites with buildings of unusual character and charm at several locations within New England.

Income Declines At Raytheon

Raytheon Company reported second quarter net income of $77.8 million, or 92 cents per share, on sales of $1.534 billion. In the second quarter of 1982, net income was $85.8 million, or $1.02 per share, on sales of $1.427 billion.

In the first six months of 1983, Raytheon's net income was $150.7 million, or $1.78 per share, on sales of $2.912 billion. This compares with net income of $165.2 million, or $1.96 per share, on sales of $2.843 billion a year ago.

Strong gains were reported in Raytheon's government electronic systems business. The appliance group continued to show a good improvement in both sales and earnings. Other commercial markets have been slower in recovering from the recession.

Raytheon's chairman, Thomas L. Phillips, said, "In view of the continued weak recovery in certain commercial markets important to Raytheon, it now appears that the company will not exceed last year's earnings for the whole of 1983."

Raytheon's total backlog at midyear was $5.929 billion, of which $3.271 billion is funded by the U.S. Government. At midyear 1982, the total order backlog was $6.146 billion with $2.599 billion of that from the government.

Activities At The Playgrounds

Bancroft Preschool

This week Halloween in July was celebrated. After arts and crafts time when jack-o-lanterns and ghost pictures were made, costumes were judged. Judging was very difficult since all the costumes were super. Amy Ahern was a kitten; Ryan Ahern, a clown; Matt Bausemer, Superman; Geoff Bomba, a ghost; Stephen Carter, a jogger; Teddy Crandall, a bunny; Alex Dalis, a cowboy, and Timmy Dargan, Superman. John DeMember was a Roman warrior; Peter Ellis, a Boy Scout; Rebecca England, a princess; Shaun Flynn, a cowboy; Matthew Herling, Darth Vader; Greg Hobbs, an Indian, and Michael Kaufman, a cowboy. Daren Kirley, Jamie Lipman, Elizabeth McDowell, Molly Seavy and Brooke Weddle were all dancers.

Christopher Marden and Mark Langone were the Cookie Monster; Erin McConville was Strawberry Shortcake and Alex Leary was the Purple Pie Man. Shannon McNabb came as a green hobo, David Messina was E.T., Eric Milligan was Mighty Mouse and Michael Stein was a pirate. David Shaffer and Jacob O'Leary were pro-athletes, Nickolas Schwatz came as a blue crayon and T.J. Witham trotted in as a zebra.

Adam Rolfs was a raccoon, Vanessa Robertson was a mommy, Daniel Peikin was a storm trooper, Ben Oyer, a gypsy, and Michael Orlandella was mild mannered reporter Clark Kent.

Kevin Lee won the donut eating contest by eating a donut in two seconds flat. Thursday were sailboat races and sand castles were built in the sandbox.

Tiny Tot

The third week of the Tiny Tot Program was even more successful than weeks one and two. Aimee Ferry accompanied by her friends, Alison McClearn and Christine McDonough, put on quite a show for their summer friends on the trampoline. A birthday celebration was held on July 13 for Nicholas Guild who turned four. His friends just loved Mrs. Guild's homemade brownies.

On Monday and Tuesday the room came alive with the most creative paperbag puppets. There were giraffes, cows, dogs and even a friendly monster named Larry, specially made by Mark Zammuto. All the children brought their favorite photos of themselves on Wednesday and Thursday and the room is now decorated with very "special pictures."

Sparc Park

Week three proved to be a busy one. The theme this week was T.V. Day and it was a success from the outset. Sparcers dressed as their favorite television personalities and took part in various game shows and sports activities. In Sparc's version of the Dating Game, Richard Lally and Laurie Gallagher were chosen by Rebecca Richmond and Glen McVicour to accompany them on a dream date to McDonalds. Nancy Nestor stood out as the most innovative and best dressed Sparcer through her rendition of Emergency Ones' Johnny Gage. On Wednesday the Sparcers had a day on the town. The first stop was brunch at McDonalds and then on the the Peanut Carnival at Central Park. The North Andover children went to North Andover for a Magic Show and Clown Act.

Ballardvale

A wiffle ball tournament between the boys and girls was started. Cindy Townsend was the star for the girls and Reggie Hayes for the boys. The first Simon Says contest was held and Jodi Jangro won an ice from the ice cream man. The playground sponsored the sponge toss and a lemonade stand at the Peanut Carnival and raised funds for a fun-filled party at the end of the program. The week ended with a refreshing day at Poms Pond.

Monday started off with a big game of Prison Dodeball. The week was filled with games of shipwreck and started a new tradition of story hour with Jerry demonstrating his natural talent for telling yarns. Charades was also a major event in the week. Todd Allard tested first aid skills with a bike accident and a bump on the head. Luckily we were prepared. Wednesday was the Peanut Carnival and two Bancrofters won the peanut rolling contest. Our game of the ring toss and popsicles were "the cat's meow." Thursday was staff hat day with Jerry bringin in three safari hats. It was also ripped sleeve shirt day. New additions to the playground are Jennifer, Sarah, Robin, Jay-Jay and Suzanne. While Amy, Jennifer, Sarah, Jo-Jo and Sharon colored salt for jars, Jerry took the others on a hike to P.A. The week ended with a smashing cookout at West.

Doherty

Doherty playground this past week was super. On Monday we played with a red, white and blue parachute and had a great time. Kiles, Jon Butt and Mark Richards were the top scorers in a great basketball game. Tuesday was kite making day with some high flying kites made by Heather and Erink Galvin, Brad and Doug Batchelder, Dan Wrigley and Jen Butt. Abby Dalton and some others made pot holders. Matt MacVicar, Ryan Murphy and Jon Butt played a fast game of Four Square. On Wednesday we sold watermelon and had a ring toss game at the Peanut Carnival. Thursday was fruit salad day—it was great on a hot day. Stephanie Rogers and Dana Dole worked very hard on friendship pins and gimp crafts. Friday there was a field trip and cookout at West Elementary School. It was also Bike Safety Day.

Sanborn

The ever-popular friendship pins took up the entire craft time on Monday and Tuesday. Those like Amy Pierro and Katie McClune, aided by volunteer Kim Guild, colorfully decorated safety pins for all the counselors to wear.

Playground was closed on Wednesday so all could travel to Central Park for the annual Peanut Carnival. Sanborn raised lots of money selling penny candy and the kids had loads of fun at the tennis ball throw. Some of the travelers included David Driben, Alison Georgian and Jay and Andrea (it was her first bus ride). Thursday the ice cream man was sick, but we made the best of it. Kathy and Peter took Billy Morris, Mike Giamassi, Walter Anderson and Tim Parker for a bike hike to Poms Pond. On of the star playgrounders, Jay Flannely, came up with a new game, Capture the Beava, starring the beava himself. Friday all the playgrounds went to West for a big cookout and great games.

South

Monday was an exciting day at South School playground starting with our own Harlem Glob Trotters girls basket team challenging the boys. Michelle Gorton was the star hoop player along with Michelle Doucette. Ann Murnane was excellent on rebounds. Stars for the boys' team included Jimmy Saalfrank and Robert Dawley, along with Ryan Evans.

Tuesday was highlighted by a fishing trip to Poms Pond. Tracy Lee and Joshua Russo each hauled in five whoppers apiece. Scott "Bernie" Bernard caught the first fish and Joey Fillipon caught two and Jeanee Meckle caught one.

Wednesday it to Central Park for the Peanut Carnival. Thanks to everyone who baked and helped to make our game a smashing success.

Thursday was Yab-a-dab-a-do day and South School playground went caveman style.

All-Day Playground

Week number three proved to be especially fun and exciting for we had more kids than in past weeks and more staff too. Monday was routine day filled with games like kickball, soccer, Indian Chief and others as well as bead jewelry and drawing. Tuesday's highlight was eating a batch of Gorp that was made after pool time. Bernadette Vajda, Kelly Moriarty, Sarah Halleran, Audry Messna and Diana Zipeto really impressed the staff with their politeness and cooperation. We all went to the Peanut Carnival on Wednesday. Eszter Vajda, Jason Weiner and Lisa Allen won huge amounts of peanuts and Herbie Foster did a bang-up job helping Frank run the peanut golf game. Friday was cookout, movie and pool competition day and everyone had a lot of fun.

West Elementary

West Elementary opened its third week with a Monday morning softball game. Star players included Marc Selvitelli, Chris Lane, Ann Marie Charland, Julie Cutler and Matt Abernathy. The crafts project for the day was paper flowers. Participants included Chrystal Sweeney, Michelle Riddle, Liz Ganem, Scott Marique and Christine Spignesi. Tuesday the kids were busy making key chains. Layne Whitley, Staci Amirto, Sally McManus, Cara Morrison and Jenni Amirto especially enjoyed this project. Wednesday everyone traveled to Central Park for the Peanut Carnival. Kristi Amirto, Amy Wilkens, Joey Sirois, Jen Ghiloni and Spanky Charland enjoyed the games, food and especially the face painting sponsored by Spark Park. Thursday was a mellow day. One of the crafts was making frames, luggage tags and key chain change purses. Richard Marique, Sarah Faraci, Ryan Abernathy, Jimmy Riddle, Leslie Wilkinson, Tanya Scott, Sonya Scott and Ricky Scott were especially successful in this endeavor. Indian Chief was enjoyed by Debbie Green, Mary Austin, Tara Richards, Mike Melia, Ann Plamondon and Mary Robb.

Brahms

The Alexander String quartet will begin the program with Franz Schubert's "Quartetsatz in C Minor." Brahms much admired this earlier Viennese composer and even owned the autograph score of this piece. Soprano Phyllis Curtin and pianist Anthony di Bonaventura will join the quartet for the remainder of the program in works by Brahms.

Curtin has sung with the Metropolitan Opera and other major opera companies and symphonies. She recently left her post as professor of music at Yale University to become dean of the Boston University School for the Arts.

Di Bonaventura is the chairman of the piano faculty at the Boston University School of Music.

Performances take place in the Castle Hill Concert Barn at 8:30 p.m. Gate opens at 6 p.m. for picnicking in the Towered Garden.

Summer Fun In Andover

Although keeping cool is always the first priority on everybody's list, there are plenty of ways to enjoy the summer here at home. Photos clockwise from top left: Kalley Cutler, 16 Samos Lane, knows how to keep herself and her customers cool and happy. Kalley scoops up homemade ice cream at Rose Glen; Rebecca Poulou, 5 Mulberry Circle, keeps the local ducks on Argilla Road happy with pieces of bread and popcorn; Pretty sheets and blankets are transformed into a summer home for Jenny Shapiro. Andover Delegates At Synod

The drive for world peace, economic justice at home and abroad and issues of human sexuality were in the forefront of actions of the 14th General Synod of the United Church of Christ in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Joann Coombs, West Parish Church, and Jennifer Rogers, South Church, both of Andover, were delegates to the Synod, representing the Massachusetts Conference.

The 705 delegates voted overwhelmingly to have the United Church of Christ develop as a "peace-making church" and to help fund its efforts in that direction. They approved an all-church peace offering to be taken at Pentecost in 1984 and 1985. Describing "peace as the parent of justice and justice as the parent of peace," they stressed "the right of every person to have food, shelter, health care, education and employment, as well as the right to security and freedom from war."

Earlier, the Synod endorsed a mutual U.S.-Soviet Union nuclear weapons freeze. It also called on Congress to stop all funding for the MX missile and other first-strike nuclear weapons and urged all nations to pledge not to use weapons of mass destruction first or to develop the capacity for a first strike.

The delegates finished work on policies related to sexuality begun in 1979. They adopted a task force report that put the Synod on record as recognizing "that a person's sexual orientation is not a moral issue, but that sexual behavior does have moral significance." "Sexual orientation should not be grounds for denying the request for ordination," they advised associations of U.C.C. churches, which have the sole power to ordain ministers.

Youth needs and interests were designated as a new, four-year priority for the church after vigorous lobbying by youth delegates.

Synod delegates also voted to call on the administration and Congress "to lead all other governments by reversing U.S. policy on seeking military solutions to the conflicts in Central America" and to seek just, negotiated solutions. They also endorsed churches who give "sanctuary" to Salvadoran and Guatemalan refugees.

In Appreciation

The Andover Board of Health was the recipient of a special award from the Andover-North Andover YMCA this week for participation as the major sponsor for the annual Health Fair conducted by the Haverhill street agency. Receiving the award from Heidi Wolfman, center, director of the Andover-North Andover Y, are Dr. Douglas Dunbar, health board chairman, left, and Everett Penney, health director.

Main St. Repaving To Be On Sundays

Main street from Elm Square to Morton street will be getting a new coat of hot top soon and the project is being planned to cause the least disturbance possible to the downtown area.

Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade said this week that the shutdown of the town's Main street would probably be done on two successive Sundays, rather than during the week when business and other activity in the downtown area would be inconvenienced.

Current plans call for one Sunday to be dedicated to heater-planing the street, with work then continuing during the week on curbs and catch basin correction where necessary.

The following Sunday crews would move in and repave the street, completing the total project.

The DPW is in the process of scheduling the work which is expected to be done about mid-August.

Our Popular Address Reaffirmed In House Sales, Construction

By Robert E. Finneran

There is one thing about Andover that remains undeniable.

It has an attractive address.

That has been evidenced in recent years by the continued development of single family homes in the community, and houses which command a rather impressive price tag.

While new home construction was somewhat off during the fiscal year last year, no doubt due to economic conditions, there was still ample building compared to other communities.

This fiscal year, the issuance of permits for new homes is well above that of a year ago and the same condition exists in most all categories of permits issued under the direction of Building Inspector Sam DeSalvo.

Further emphasis on the fact of Andover's prestigious address is shown in the recent sale of a new house in one of the town's many new developments under construction. A week ago one of the developers passed papers on a house listed for $350,000 in which another $50,000 was added as extras.

DeSalvo said another developer in another section of town had 12 houses under construction and had to put a halt on further starts in order to prepare the existing dozen for September occupancy.

DeSalvo says his office is busy and sometimes to extreme in keeping up with inspections and permit issuance, but adds that the town can be thankful to present and past officials who have developed bylaws which safeguard home buyers and insist on proper inspection services before certificates of occupancy are issued.

He also points out that in addition to new home development, the town has been fortunate in its industrial development, Andover having had cooperative industrial neighbors moving into appropriately zoned areas of the town, with services provided by the community.

The building inspector said that of the 153 new dwelling permits issued this past fiscal year, (July 1 through June 30) many are in the high-priced category, ranging anywhere from $150,000 to $350,000. Estimated value of the new dwellings authorized during this period is $10,226,800.

During the same period a year previous, there were 52 permits issued for an estimated value of $2,826,534.

Additions and alterations remained at about the same level as the previous year, with 459 permits for an estimated value of $1,938,645 being issued in FY'83 compared to 497 permits for $1,932,431 the prior year.

New industry also keeps pace with prior year construction. This past year there were 30 permits issued for new industrial construction valued at $16,631,867 compared to 30 permits issued the previous year with an estimated value of $16,490,000.

Permits for additions to businesses increased this past year, with 24 permits being issued in this category for a value of $16,631,867. The prior fiscal year figures were 29 permits for $578,513.

Some categories showed substantial decline, such as additions and alterations to industrial buildings, where only seven permits were issued this past fiscal year for a $220,400 value, compared to the 14 permits issued in FY'82 for $10,490,000.

There were less swimming pool permits

One of many new homes under construction in Andover authorized, only 39 this year, compared to 50 a year ago, with the values listed at $226,174 this year and $405,677 last year.

Public building construction was also lower this past year, due to the new school project not appearing in this year's compilation. Only three public projects have been authorized during the fiscal year just ended as compared to 17 a year ago, with comparative values set at $44,000 to $12,283,285.

There has been no new apartment construction in the town during the past two years, although there were two permits issued this year for conversion of existing buildings to apartment use for an estimated value of $265,000.

Total number of permits issued during FY'83 was 1,370 compared to 1,024 in FY'82. Estimated value of all permits issued was $31,152,445 this year and $48,332,874 last year.

Comprehensive Planning Effort Heads Toward Final Stages

A target date of Nov. 15 has been set for submitting the final draft of the comprehensive planning committee task force reports and recommendations to the planning board.

Consultant Ron Curran submitted the final timetable to the planning board at their session Tuesday night.

Curran told the planners that the schedule calls for all six of the task forces to submit a rough draft of their final reports to him by Sept. 15. This will be followed by meetings with the individual task force groups the last week in September and the first week of October. Any individual task force member's comments will be required to be submitted by Oct. 10.

Any changes will be incorporated into a second draft.

Based on this schedule Curran said he feels that final rough draft should be submitted to the planning board by Nov. 15.

Ron Curran

Polishing up the report and editing will be the responsibility of Curran, Development Director Jonathan Gilmore and the planning board, the consultant said.

For the past year, six task forces have been working on updating the town's master plan, last done in 1965. The task forces have been examining land use; public safety and health; housing, business and industry; communications and transportation; schools and community services; capital improvements, redevelopment and reuse.

The study was authorized by the 1982 town meeting which authorized $50,000 to bring the master plan up to date.

Curran said that one of the first matters to be addressed once the report is complete is to determine if any bylaw or zoning changes are recommended so that public hearings can be scheduled with sufficient time for ample discussion prior to any contemplated town meeting action.

He said he anticipates no dramatic recommendations for drastic bylaw or zoning changes.

There is a consensus that some industrial land in the community would be better served if rezoned to another use.

He said there are also some indications that some direction should be provided to allow more affordable housing within the community, but there are no clear indications of direction from the task force group examining this issue as yet.

When completed the plan will have provisions for annual update and review built in, Curran said.

The consultant said he is pleased with the process as it has developed.

The work will ultimately be the result of input and recommendations from people who live and work in Andover, with the consultant's function to assemble the report.

Awaiting The Report

The six task forces which have been working on Andover's comprehensive plan are approaching the final stages of their efforts, with a timetable having been established by Ron Curran, consultant in charge of updating the town's master plan.

Curran informed the planning board this week that hopefully a final draft of the report, with supporting data, will be in their hands by mid-November.

Townpeople and the town administration should be anxiously awaiting this work, based on the composition of the members of the task force assigned to review the six major areas of study.

Unlike previous studies and master plan development for Andover, this updated version takes advantage of the community's greatest asset, its residents and members of the town's official family.

Consultants who have done similar work in the past, in fact the basic document with which the task forces are working---the town's master plan---generally have been professionals from outside the Andover area, simply here to perform their task and leave.

Unlike such past effort, the town now has somewhere in excess of 100 residents who live and work in Andover and have spent the past year examining where the town is in relation to the master plan and in what direction it should be moving.

Within the makeup of the various task forces have been members of town boards and committees specifically examining the subject as part of their official duties, such as planners reviewing land use proposals.

This insures a local familiarity with the subject and some of the problems the town could be facing in dealing with the matter in future years.

Add to that nucleus of expertise, concerned local citizens who are desirous of contributing to the development of their community and maintaining the town's reputation for orderly development, and the possibility of excellence in determining guidelines exists.

Curran sees the new comprehensive plan taking advantage of the orderly planning processes developed by professionals and town meeting actions of the past being incorporated and modified where necessary to meet existing conditions.

As the work on comprehensive planning enters its final stages, then, it seems appropriate to be somewhat optimistic that the efforts of local, concerned residents and officials, will provide the town with a meaningful master plan. It is, after all, a locally-oriented view of what the town's needs are and how best Andover residents view how to respond to these needs.

Budget Basics

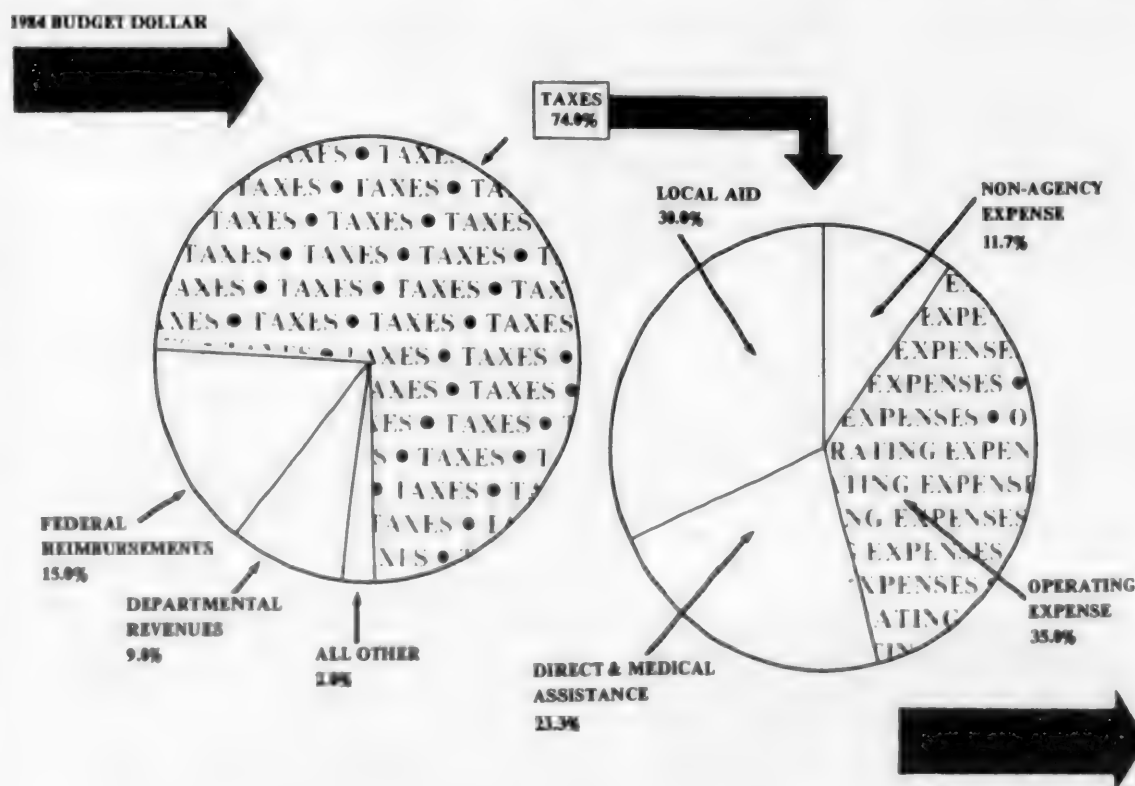

As I write this, the State Legislature has finalized the FY '84 budget.

With a $7 billion plus budget, Massachusetts government is the largest economic enterprise in the state. The budget is a financial plan as well as a policy statement regarding spending and taxing for the fiscal year.

The following revenue "pies" summarize how this $7 billion is collected and spent.

Incoming
State taxes include:

- 51% - Income Tax
- 20% - Sales Tax
- 11% - Business/Corporations
- 5% - Motor Fuels Tax
- 3% - Cigarette Tax
- 10% - Other

Outgoing

- Local aid and welfare (AFDC: medicaid; etc) represents one-half the state budget
- Non-agency expenses include such items as employee insurance, pensions and debt service
- Operating expenses include courts, transportation, education (state colleges, scholarships) mental health, elderly affairs, training programs, environmental affairs, public safety, housing, social services, consumer affairs.

Citizens frequently ask about spending trends in Massachusetts. How much has the state budget increased or decreased over the past several years? In current dollars state spending has doubled since the $3.5 billion budget in FY 1975. However, in constant dollars, spending has increased only 3.4 percent above the 1975 level.

Most analysts measure government spending in relationship to personal income, i.e., what percentage of personal income is spent to support state government: State expenditures as a percentage of personal income have declined from 10.4 percent in FY 1979 to 9.5 percent in FY 1984.

A debate on Beacon Hill, very much linked to budget discussions, is whether or not the label "Taxachusetts" should be put to rest. It is difficult to measure Massachusetts taxes and spending with other states because structures vary so much. Some states fund their court system and even welfare locally; others have major county services and taxes outside their state budget. In this debate statistics can "prove" any number of conclusions, depending on the set of data used.

A summary of the most reliable studies I have reviewed shows that the total tax burden (state and local) is still above the national average but lower than the total tax burden in many other industrial states. Furthermore, the gap is narrowing each year as Proposition 2½ limits property tax growth and 24 other states implement major, broad-based tax increases this year.

Your comments are welcome. My address is R. 167 State House, Boston 02133. Tel: 722-2692.

The Public Forum

To the Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Today's (July 14) Townsman included letters from two people who have served Andover with distinction. Both letters comment on the Selectmen's recent decision to limit traffic on River Street. The writers make many valuable points with which I agree, but each one needs some corrective footnotes.

The first letter exaggerates the effect of the Selectmen's action when it speaks of "severe restrictions of one-way traffic." On the contrary, the proposed system will stop only peak-time traffic to the Lowell Junction Industrial Park in the morning and peak-time traffic from that area in the late afternoon—and only Monday through Friday.

Cars and trucks will have to enter Lowell Junction via the Connector Road that was constructed for that purpose. River Street is too narrow, winding and hilly to handle the present heavy, speeding and dangerous traffic; and it promises to increase greatly. Local residents will surely exchange a five-day peak-time inconvenience for the safety of children and maintenance of quality of life on residential streets. (The writer also raises fears about police and fire vehicles. Emergency vehicles are exempt from one-way restrictions.)

The second letter insists that only a proper interchange (which we would all prefer) rather than a slip ramp should serve the Lowell Junction industrial area. After investigation I am convinced that Andover, Tewksbury and Wilmington will not see such an interchange in my lifetime.

State and federal bureaucrats have indicated to me that, regardless of sympathetic noises made by certain politicians, an interchange is unlikely for at least 20 years more (and we have been asking for it for 15 years!). Furthermore, both Tewksbury and Andover have recently taken actions that encourage private developers to use the proposed cloverleaf quadrants for commerce or industry. I am assured by officials that a slip ramp, if forcefully pursued, is possible within only three or four years.

With a slip ramp to serve the Lowell Junction area finally in place, it seems reasonable to remove the limited one-way system on River Street. Thus, immediate relief of the present unbearable situation will be achieved, and the inconvenience will have been only temporary. The Selectmen's plan makes sense for many streets in Ballardvale. More important, it will help preserve the quality of life in the Town of Andover, of which we are all justly proud.

JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Assistant to Carter aide says he made copies of 'Debategate' briefing book

By Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — The Washington press corps is already calling it "Debategate," but that may be a little melodramatic to describe the uproar over the Reagan campaign's use of Jimmy Carter's White House briefing documents just before the 1980 debate between the two contenders.

There's no indication yet that the briefing-book caper could turn into a scandal on the scale of Watergate. But reporters and congressional investigators are digging into the mystery. The FBI has been unleashed on the case. And our own staff is hot on the trail. Here's what we've learned:

The Carter briefing book was copied late on the night of Oct. 22 and early in the morning of Oct. 23, 1980. Twenty-four hours later, David Stockman was using the briefing papers to rehearse Reagan for the debate.

Who did the copying? We have identified him as James C. Rowland, who worked directly under Carter aide David Rubenstein in the White House.

Rowland told us he made about a dozen copies of the briefing book — 15 copies at the most. They were circulated only to Carter intimates at the White House and at Camp David.

Significantly, no copies of the briefing book were sent to campaign headquarters. Any material that found its way to the Reagan campaign, therefore, must have come from the White House itself, not from some disgruntled Carter campaign worker.

That might explain why House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., isn't anxious to pursue the Great Briefing Book investigation: It could prove to be as embarrassing to the Democrats as to the Republicans.

Meanwhile, former Reagan campaign officials have admitted that they set up a task force to keep check on possible military operations that might help Carter's re-election bid. A network of former military officials, for example, kept a worldwide watch on stockpiles of spare parts for F-14 jet aircraft.

Why spare parts for this plane? Because Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini needed the parts for Iran's air force and might have been willing to trade the hostages for them. If the campaign spies spotted any unusual movement of the parts, it might have been a signal that a deal had been struck — airplane parts in exchange for the hostages.

The trade, of course, was never made, but the incident demonstrates the extent of campaign espionage.

SOVIET CINEMA: Residents of Moscow have been flocking to see a government-produced propaganda film called "Incident in Quadrant 36-80." It portrays an American submarine commander as a gun-packing nut who reacts atrociously after his nuclear reactor catches fire and starts an accidental attack. The Russians, of course, react with kindness and humanity. They offer their assistance to the Americans and decline to escalate the conflict.

The film, however, represents an intelligence bonanza for U.S. agents who have seen it. The Soviet aircraft carrier Kiev is prominently featured, and there are close-ups of the vessel's jets, bombers, refueling apparatus and shipboard anti-missile system.

So in their eagerness to make the United States look bad, they have revealed some of their closely guarded military secrets.

INVALID COMPLAINT: Last year, Cuban dictator Fidel Castro accused the CIA of using biological warfare against Cuba. The resulting dengue fever, malaria and parasitic disease, he charged, had resulted in 158 deaths and widespread illness.

CIA sources tell a different story. The answer, they say, is so simple that it eluded the intelligence analysts for some time. Dengue fever, they now realize, is transmitted by mosquitoes, and is endemic to Africa and Southeast Asia. Coincidentally, Cuban military advisers have been serving in these areas and have returned home with the disease.

* Apparently, Cuban soldiers and advisers have been picking up the other diseases in remote areas of the world. Malaria cases were reported after Cuban troops returned from Angola. And parasites found in Africa and Nicaragua are also showing up in Cuba.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI: According to our sources, former White House political aide Lyn Nofziger has been urging Drew Lewis, the former secretary of transportation, to take command of Reagan's 1984 campaign. If Lewis accepts the job, Nofziger will join the campaign; if not, he will sit it out. Apparently, Nofziger believes Lewis is the one man who can keep the lid on Reagan's faction-ridden camp.

— Civil rights activist Jesse Jackson has been toying with the idea of running for the presidency and has been traveling around the country with a large entourage in search of support. His candidacy will probably not get off the ground but his effort should force a change in the delegate selection process and give blacks a greater voice.

— House Speaker Tip O'Neill believes that the Democratic presidential contenders have been too timid in their criticisms of Ronald Reagan and plans to become more vocal in hope that the candidates will follow suit.

Fiberglass-reinforced plastic (FRP) is fast becoming the material of choice for both builders and homeowners when it comes to bathroom components. Instead of heavy, enameled iron bathtubs, molded plastic tubs and showers afford relative ease of installation. Because they are seamless, fiberglass bathtub/shower stall combinations are virtually leak-proof when properly installed. The molding process allows many different design features, such as handles and seats, to be incorporated as well. Not only is it light and structurally sound, FRP is dimensionally stable, abrasion resistant, free from odor retention and easy to clean.

Gold Ruthers Just Fall Short

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Gold Babe Ruth baseball team fell just short of capturing its third straight Greater-Lawrence League championship, finishing the regular season one game behind titlist South Lawrence West in a pennant fight that went down to the last two days of play.

Gold won two of its three games last week, producing its two biggest offensive outbursts in an 11-5 victory over South Lawrence East and a subsequent 11-8 triumph over South Lawrence West.

The killer was a 3-2 extra-inning setback to North Andover and ace pitcher Rich Blinn, who hurled against AG four times this summer and beat them on three occasions (4-1 and 1-0 in eight innings).

Gold, which had gone 34-4 in league play and 50-6 overall the last two championship seasons, finished last week's action with an 11-6 overall record and a 10-6 league mark.

South Lawrence West, which officially clinched the title (its first ever in 32 years of league play) with a 10-6 victory over Andover Blue last week, ended up with an 11-5 regular season mark.

Gold's six losses came by a total of 12 runs, including a pair of 1-0 setbacks and a 3-2 defeat. The other losses were by 6-4, 4-1 and 4-0 scores, two of the games going to extra innings.

Among the highlights last week were undefeated righthander Mark Doherty's (5-0) fifth pitching victory, a four-RBI night for 13-year-old Mike Lane and strong performances against SLE by 13's Kevin Henderson, Scott Wallace, Dave Vickers and Matt Gibson.

The Greater-Lawrence League playoffs opened last night with Andover Gold chasing its third straight playoff title and fourth championship in the last five years.

AG came up with a tough draw, however, facing North Andover and nemesis Blinn in its opening game.

The playoffs are again being run under a double-elimination format, with Gold slated to play its second game either this evening or Monday.

Following the playoffs, Gold will have a full slate of activities in August. Plans tentatively call for the 13th annual trip to Montreal the first week of August, to be followed by participation (with Andover Blue) in both the Saugus and Waltham tournaments.

There may also be a home-and-home series against the Acton Babe Ruthers.

Top batters for light-hitting Gold are Scott Wallace (.333), Mark Doherty (.300), Kevin Rourke (.286), Chris Colsia (.280), Kurt Burzlaff (.267) and Larry Aiello (.262).

North Andover, 3-2

Rich Blinn, coming back with only three days rest, posted his second consecutive extra-inning triumph over Gold and effectively took the two-time defending champs out of the race.

Blinn fired his third straight two-hitter against

AG, walking three and striking out 15. He fanned the side in the first and struck out two batters in every other inning except the fourth. Gold hit just four balls out of the infield.

AG 14-year-old righthander Chris Colsia (3-0), settling down after a rocky first inning, tossed 6 and 2/3 frames of six-hit ball. He permitted just one earned run, striking out five and walking two and allowed just two NA safeties after the opening stanza.

Kevin Rourke pitched out of a mini-jam in the top of the seventh, then suffered the tough loss when North Andover notched the unearned winning run on a throwing error in the eighth.

North Andover grabbed a 2-0 lead in the top of the first at Phillips Academy, parlaying two walks, two AG errors and singles by Sam Conte, Chris Abel, P.J. McCabe and Matt Strobel.

The game remained 2-0 until the bottom of the fifth, when Blinn lost both his no-hitter and shutout. Colsia and Earl Abdoo drew leadoff walks, both advanced on a passed ball, and with two outs Kurt Burzlaff hoisted a routine two-strike flyball to left-centerfield.

The ball dripped among three NA fielders for a two-run single, tying the game 2-2.

Conte reached on a one-out error in the North Andover second and Steve Cavanaugh bunted him to second. Rourke relieved Colsia at this point and quickly dispatched Abel on a strikeout to end the threat.

AG missed a golden opportunity to win the game in the bottom of the seventh as Colsia led off with a long triple to centerfield.

Gold tried one safety squeeze bunt that failed, then elected to go with power baseball. The move backfired, however, as Blinn fanned two batters and retired the third on a shallow fly to rightfield.

In the NA eighth Strobel spanked a one-out single, was bunted to second by Blinn and raced home when Paul Bernardin's two-out grounder resulted in a throwing error for the winning run.

Blinn breezed through the bottom of the eighth, although Mart Doherty unloaded a 300-foot flyball to left that was flagged down.

Although it was not a sharp defensive game overall for Gold, Colsia had five assists on the mound and Scott Deery played well in the outfield

Andover Gold, 11-5

Gold banged out 13 hits enroute to its triumph over South Lawrence East at Phillips Academy, scoring five runs in the bottom of the first and staking complete-game winning pitcher Scott Deery to an 11-0 lead entering the seventh.

Deery was cruising along with a two-hit shutout through six, but East came through with three timely safeties in the seventh to ruin the shutout.

Indian Ridge Tennis Teams Split

The New Indian Ridge Country Club boys junior tennis team remained unbeaten on the season while the girls team dropped a very tough match last Thursday in Junior League play.

The boys hosted Thompson Country Club and made their guests feel most unwelcome as they shut them out 6-0. In the 16-year-old singles match, Peter Kashanek won easily 10-1. Jim Sullivan raised his record to 2-0 at 14 singles with his 10-5 victory and Tyler Vadeboncouer was the winner at 12 singles 10-2. The 16-year-old team of Damon Dyer and Billy Bruno handed their guests a 6-3, 6-3 loss. While 14-year-old Eric Frank and Mike O'Connor fought back after dropping the first set for a 3-6, 7-5 and 6-1 victory. The 12-year-old Chris McAnally and Jeff Foley took little time in defeating their opponents 6-2, 6-2.

The girls lost a heartbreaker on the clay courts of Thompson Country Club by a mere five games. Both teams split the six matches and the tiebreaker rule was in effect. When the games-won totals was tallied, Thompson had won 50 games while New Indian Ridge had won 45. At 16 singles Stacey Phillips lost 10-2. At 16 doubles Miriam Meyer and Phillips lost 6-2, 7-5. In 14 singles Kim Guild lost 10-0. New Indian Ridge got on the scoreboard at 14 doubles as Liz Jurek and Guild teamed for a 6-3, 6-1 victory. They swept the 12-year-old matches; Jurek won at singles 10-0 while Stephanie Bunker and Nicole Vadeboncouer took sets two and three 1-6, 7-6 and 6-1.

The New Indian Ridge Country Club junior tennis teams are in action every Thursday at 1 p.m. with either the boys or girls at home.

Bel-Air Upholstering And Slipcovers

Give your room a fresh, new look just by using beautiful custom-made slipcovers, from Bel-Air Upholstering and Slipcovers, 195 Andover Street (upstairs in their new location). Andover, on your furniture. Slipcovers can change a room's color scheme and transform it from winter to summer or from formal to informal and back again.

The fabric of a piece of furniture is often the first to be worn out. Instead of buying new furniture, slipcovers can save the piece before it is worn and soiled. Also, they provide easy maintenance since many fabrics manufactured today are washable. Matching draperies and coordinated treatments for windows complete a total look in decorating.

With many sample fabric books from which to choose you can pick whatever style, atmosphere or decor you want and Bel-Air Upholstering will have the perfect fabric to match your decorating scheme. Bel-Air's large stock of sample swatches include everything from brocades to tapestries to cottons and velvets, from domestic to imported fabrics and just about everything in-between.

If you need help deciding on a new decor or color scheme, Mrs. Regeanne Purdy, proprietor of Bel-Air Upholstering, is well qualified to give you advice on all your decorating needs, whether you need to reupholster one piece or want to coordinate a houseful of furniture.

A special feature offered by Bel-Air Upholstering is custom work on needlepoint for those customers who enjoy doing their own personalized needlework. Mrs. Purdy will incorporate your handiwork into chairs, cushions, pillows and footstools, according to the wishes of the customer.

She has also often worked with antique pieces and enjoys helping to find the appropriate fabric for the period of the piece. With today's new and durable materials, she is able to not only restore the piece but also extend its life.

People are encouraged to drop in to look at fabric samples and discuss their decorating problems. Why not stop by Bel-Air Upholstering and inquire about a whole new look for your room or just one piece of furniture. Open Monday-Friday 9-4. Tel. 470-0388.

664-6444Crops On Schedule

Excellent growing conditions prevailed across the state this past week. Just coming into season are native blueberries and raspberries and in the next week, local cabbage will be fresh for the picking at farmers markets, roadside farm stands and many food markets. Other crops include beans, beets, cucumbers and pickling cukes, endive, escarole, Boston, romaine, green and red leaf lettuces, green peas and snap peas, yellow and zucchini squash, greens and Swiss chard. Cabbage is a member of the Cruciferae (mustard) family which includes Brussels sprouts, kale, kohlrabi, rutabaga, turnip and cauliflower.

To select a good cabbage, choose a firm, hard head that is heavy for its size. Some early season cabbage will be more soft than firm, but are excellent for immediate use if the leaves are fresh and crisp. Leaves should always be a good green or red color and free from blemishes.

The white lines in the middle of highways usually have to be repainted about every three or four months.

A French inventor patented the first practical synthetic fiber in 1884. He called it artificial silk. We know it today as rayon.

Auto Race

Mid-season championship races, traditionally one of the top events of the season, will be held this Sunday night at the Hudson Speedway, in Hudson, N.H., with drivers from throughout New England competing for top prize money in a 14-race program.

Practice gets the green flag at 5 o'clock with the first of several qualifying heats starting at 6 p.m.

Also included in this Sunday night's program will be the biggest limited super-modified and outlaw super-modified event ever held in racing history. Limited super-modifieds are beginning to gain more popularity at Hudson as the 1983 season continues.

Additional prize money and extra distance feature events will be run in all four divisions. Late model sportsmen modifieds will go 35 laps in their feature event while street stocks will go 25 laps in their main event. The slam-bang rookie stocks will qualify for a 15-lap feature.

Because of last Sunday's postponement, two 10-lap spectator races are planned.

Championship points, toward the standings in each division, will be awarded in heat races as well as each feature event.

A special "Dixie Land Band" music session will be held at intermission with a live group performing from the trackside "Victory Lane" platform.

Among Sunday night's entries are Pete Fiandaca, Mike Murphy, Wayne Helliwell, Paul Richardson, Moe Tweedy, Fitch Fenton, Kelly Devaney and Ted Parker.

Hudson Speedway is located just off Route 102 in Hudson, N.H., between Derry and Nashua.

PASS THE DIRT, PLEASE!

Many years ago, when one person sold property to another, the two of them would go out on the land that was about to be transferred. While witnesses watched, the seller would take a leaf from a tree or a clump of dirt and solemnly hand it over to the buyer. This was a symbol of the sale, literally showing the seller transferring the land to the buyer.

Then the "scrivener" (a person who could write) wrote the agreement on some kind of durable material so it couldn't be erased or altered. The name of the seller was written down, he put his personal seal on the "document," and that was it! The sale was complete with every one happy and satisfied.

Needless to say, things aren't that simple anymore, and much more is involved in buying and selling property now. There is a veritable maze of details and procedures that MUST be followed. An unwary person lost there could find himself with many problems, possibly causing the loss of much money. We, as professional Realtors know our way through that maze, and we guide our clients through it safely and confidently!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Georgetown

A Now and Then Days festival will be held in Georgetown, August 13 and 14.

The festival includes a firemen's carnival, a New England crafts show and sale, food booths, Keystone Cops, flower carts, fireworks Saturday night and a parade Sunday at 2 p.m.

Best overall clown costume will be judged during the parade. Best decorated bicycle in the parade will receive a prize. The oldest car will win a case of oil and there will be a prize for the most "now" car. The winner of the punk hair-do contest will ride in the parade in a decorated dune buggy. A giant Teddy Bear will go to the winner of the most authentic antique costume contest.

Of 200 or more known species of oak trees, about 75 are native to the United States.

Safety Belts

Easter Seal Societies across the country have joined with the National Safety Council in a push to promote the use of car safety belts.

The Massachusetts Easter Seal Society announced that it will undertake a public education campaign calling attention to the need for wearing of safety seat belts.

As part of its public education effort, the state society will make available materials explaining why "buckling up" is so important and describing the best protection for children of all ages.

Michael S. Robertson, Massachusetts Easter Seal president, noted that Massachusetts law makes it mandatory that children from infancy to age five years be buckled up in approved safety restraints when riding in a motor vehicle.

Boston Regatta

Antique Yachts Etcetera will present the First Annual Boston Antique and Classic Boat Regatta on July 23 and 24.

Boston Inner Harbor and the Charles River Lower Basin serve as the staging areas for these elegant sail and power vessels, many built before 1942 and restored to their original condition with loving care and craftsmanship.

have no potential for use by the academy in the immediate future, and very conceivably of no use at any time.

He said sale of the property could be in its entirety, or in portions, whichever proves beneficial to the ultimate development and what would appear to be compatible to academy and town interests.

The property, which predates Andover's zoning bylaws, is basically contained in a Single Residence B district which requires 30,000 square feet for single family home development.

Should a developer wish to use the property for multi-family units, such as apartments or condominiums, it is conceivable that the plans could be placed before the zoning board of appeals for a variance. Neilson indicated if such a proposal were to be offered, then possibly town meeting action would be more attuned to determining the ultimate use of the property.

Condition of the buildings on the property is not the best. McKeen and Draper Halls, the two main buildings at the campus, are probably structurally sound, but would have to be gutted in order to be used.

Neilson said that there has been a proposal to acquire and develop the property under provision of low income housing laws, but that, too, would probably be something the town would have to become involved with, if the proposal came to pass.

The proposal to develop Abbot into a life-care facility came a short time after the merger of Phillips and Abbot Academies in 1973.

The proposal was to utilize buildings existing on the campus and develop others into a complex which would provide housing facilities basically suited to retired persons and senior citizens. There would be a nursing home and medical services available within the complex to suit the needs of all.

While it initially appeared to be a favored use of the property by many within the town's official family and supported by several boards and committees, neighbors and others spoke in opposition at the special town meeting and the proposed use was defeated by a close vote.

Since that time a similar proposal for use of land in West Parish and proposed by some members of West Parish church, was likewise rejected, principally by abutters, with the result the matter never went beyond the planning stages.

Abbot was a private preparatory school for girls founded in 1828 and continued to serve in that capacity until the formal merger in 1973.

Heading up the group that developed the merger was Philip K. Allen, of Andover, who served as a trustee of both Phillips and Abbot. Allen formed the committees and developed the plans to overcome the hesitations and objections to the combining of the two schools into a single coeducational facility which took over three years to accomplish.
